

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface . . . . .	1
1. Context is Everything. Identifying Identity in the Art of the Syrian Orthodox . . . . .	5
1.1 The Study of Medieval Christian Art from the Middle East . . . . .	5
1.2 Aim of the Present Research . . . . .	10
1.3 Theoretical Framework . . . . .	12
1.3.1 Community and Communal Identity . . . . .	12
1.3.2 Ethnogenesis Theory. . . . .	18
1.3.3 Art and Identity . . . . .	20
1.3.4 Possible Identity Markers . . . . .	30
A) Iconography . . . . .	30
B) Style. . . . .	32
C) Inscriptions . . . . .	33
1.4 Delimitation of the Research Material . . . . .	36
1.5 Summary . . . . .	41
2. The Syrian Orthodox in their Historical and Artistic Settings . . . . .	43
2.1 Northern Mesopotamia and Mosul . . . . .	43
2.2 The Establishment of the Syrian Orthodox Church in Northern Mesopotamia . . . . .	50
2.3 The Syrian Orthodox Church in the Mosul Area . . . . .	53
2.4 Deir Mar Mattai versus Takrit. . . . .	62
2.5 The Syrian Renaissance. . . . .	67
2.6 Medieval Syrian Orthodox Church Decoration in Syria and Lebanon. . . . .	73
A) Deir Mar Musa al-Habashi near Nebk, Syria . . . . .	75
B) Church of Mar Tadros in Bahdeidat, Lebanon . . . . .	80
2.7 Artistic Developments in Northern Mesopotamia and Related Areas . . . . .	83
2.7.1 A Common Christian-Muslim Visual Culture . . . . .	86
2.7.2 Mixed Workshops and Christian-Muslim Collaboration . . . . .	90
2.7.3 Religious Convergence and Joint Christian-Muslim Veneration . . . . .	92
2.8 The Golden Age of Mosul . . . . .	99

3. Metalwork: The Liturgical Fan from Deir al-Surian . . . . .	105
3.1 Introduction. . . . .	105
3.2 General Description . . . . .	107
3.3 Iconography and Style . . . . .	110
3.3.1 The Enthroned Virgin Hodegetria in Vatican Syr. 559 and British Library Add. 7170. . . . .	112
3.3.2 The Enthroned Virgin Hodegetria at the Church of the Virgin in Mosul . . . . .	115
3.3.3 The Enthroned Virgin Hodegetria on the Freer Canteen . . . . .	116
3.3.4 Stylistic Analogies with a Group of Manuscripts from Northern Mesopotamia . . . . .	119
3.3.5 A Comparison with Mosul Metalwork . . . . .	120
3.4 Language of the Inscriptions and Religious Background of the Artist . . . . .	125
3.5 Cultural Contacts between Deir al-Surian and Mesopotamia . . . . .	127
3.5.1 Moses of Nisibis: Cultural Contacts in the Ninth and Tenth Century . . . . .	129
3.5.2 Monks from Deir Mar Mattai: Cultural Contacts in the Twelfth and Thirteenth Century . . . . .	138
3.6 Conclusion . . . . .	148
4. Manuscript Illustration: Vatican Syr. 559 and British Library Add. 7170 . . . . .	151
4.1 Introduction . . . . .	151
4.2 Illustrated Islamic Manuscripts and the Contribution of Local Christians . . . . .	154
4.3 General Description of Vat. Syr. 559 and BL Add. 7170 . . . . .	160
4.4 Style . . . . .	164
4.4.1 General Observations . . . . .	164
4.4.2 The Production of Illustrated Syrian Orthodox Manu- scripts during the Syrian Renaissance . . . . .	169
4.4.3 The Production of Vat. Syr. 559 and BL Add. 7170 . . . . .	177
4.5 Iconography . . . . .	180
4.5.1 The Byzantine Contribution . . . . .	181
4.5.2 The Middle-Eastern Contribution. . . . .	183
4.6 Remarks about the Iconographic Programme of Vat. Syr. 559 . . . . .	187
4.6.1 Function and Practical Purposes . . . . .	190
4.6.2 Possible Propagandistic Intentions . . . . .	193
4.7 Questions of Identity. . . . .	195

A) The Portraits of the Evangelists . . . . .	198
B) The Forty Martyrs of Sebaste. . . . .	199
C) Four Monastic Saints . . . . .	203
D) Constantine and Helena . . . . .	207
4.8 Conclusion . . . . .	210
5. Wall Painting: The Church of Mar Giworgis in Qaraqosh . .	215
5.1 Introduction . . . . .	215
5.2 General Description . . . . .	216
5.2.1 Description of the Church and History of the Building	216
5.2.2 Description of the Wall Painting . . . . .	218
5.3 Iconography . . . . .	219
5.3.1 The Baptism of Christ . . . . .	219
5.3.2 Frequently Recurring Subsidiary Figures . . . . .	224
5.3.3 Baptism and Resurrection of Christ . . . . .	225
5.3.4 An Accumulation of Resurrectional Symbolism . .	231
5.3.5 Baptismal Themes in the Syrian Orthodox Tradition	236
5.4 Style . . . . .	239
5.5 Wider Historical and Artistic Context . . . . .	243
5.6 Written Evidence for Medieval Wall Paintings in the Syrian Orthodox Church . . . . .	246
A) Wall Paintings in Syrian Orthodox Churches in Central Mesopotamia . . . . .	247
B) Wall Paintings at Deir Mar Barsauma near Melitene . . . . .	249
C) Wall Paintings at Deir Mar Yuhanon bar Naggare near Bartelli . . . . .	250
5.7 Conclusion . . . . .	253
6. Sculptural Decoration in a Monastic Context: Deir Mar Behnam near Qaraqosh . . . . .	257
6.1 Introduction . . . . .	257
6.2 History of the Monastery: External and Internal Evidence .	260
6.2.1 The Legend of Mar Behnam . . . . .	260
6.2.2 Historical Sources and Inscriptions . . . . .	273
6.3 Style . . . . .	279
6.3.1 General Observations . . . . .	279
6.3.2 Gates. . . . .	280
6.3.3 Niches . . . . .	283
6.3.4 Domes . . . . .	285

6.3.5	Inscriptions . . . . .	287
6.4	Iconography . . . . .	287
6.4.1	Animal Motifs . . . . .	288
	A) Dragons . . . . .	289
	B) Lions . . . . .	294
	C) Birds . . . . .	298
6.4.2	Human Figures and Narrative Scenes . . . . .	301
	A) Equestrian Saints: Mar Behnam and St George . . . . .	301
	B) The First and Second Baptism of Mar Behnam . . . . .	305
	C) Six Monastic Saints . . . . .	310
	D) St Peter and St Paul . . . . .	318
	E) Veneration of the Cross by Angels . . . . .	320
6.5	The Iconographic Programme and Its Meaning . . . . .	324
	A) Victory of the Cross and the Triumph of Christianity over its Enemies . . . . .	325
	B) A Genealogy of Syrian Orthodox Monasticism in the Mosul Area . . . . .	328
6.6	Conclusion . . . . .	333
7.	Sculptural Decoration in a Parish Context: The Church of Mar Ahudemmeh in Mosul and the Church of Mart Shmuni in Qaraqosh . . . . .	337
7.1	Introduction . . . . .	337
7.1.1	The Architecture of Syrian Orthodox Churches in the Mosul Area . . . . .	340
7.1.2	The Symbolic Meaning of Liturgical Space in the Syrian Orthodox Tradition . . . . .	342
7.2	The Church of Mar Ahudemmeh in Mosul. . . . .	346
7.3	Style and Iconography of the Royal Gate at the Church of Mar Ahudemmeh. . . . .	347
	7.3.1 The Cross-Legged Seated Prince Holding a Cup . . . . .	350
	7.3.2 Mounted Falconers . . . . .	354
	7.3.3 Lion's Head and Dragon-Tailed Lions . . . . .	359
	7.3.4 Arabic Inscriptions . . . . .	360
7.4	The Church of Mart Shmuni in Qaraqosh . . . . .	362
7.5	Style and Iconography of the Royal Gate at the Church of Mart Shmuni . . . . .	363
	7.5.1 Style and Original Appearance of the Royal Gate . . . . .	363
	7.5.2 Cult and Iconography of Mart Shmuni and Her Sons . . . . .	366
	7.5.3 The Cross-Legged Seated Prince Dominating Lions . . . . .	369

7.5.4 Military Attendants . . . . .	370
7.5.5 The Royal Gate: Re-use, Specific Commission, or Stock Made? . . . . .	371
7.5.6 The Turkish Ruler and his Military Attendants: Sym- bols of Christ and his Heavenly Army?. . . . .	374
7.6 Conclusion . . . . .	377
8. Inscriptions: Language and Dating Systems. . . . .	379
8.1 Introduction . . . . .	379
8.2 Language . . . . .	380
8.2.1 Deir al-Surian and Deir Mar Musa . . . . .	380
8.2.2 Illustrated Syrian Orthodox Manuscripts . . . . .	392
8.2.3 Deir Mar Behnam and the Church of Mar Ahudem- meh . . . . .	398
8.3 Dating Systems . . . . .	403
8.4 Conclusion . . . . .	409
9. Epilogue: Art as an Expression of Syrian Orthodox Identity? . . . . .	413
9.1 Introduction . . . . .	413
9.2 The Profile and Character of Syrian Orthodox Art . . . . .	413
9.2.1 Regionalism . . . . .	413
9.2.2 Artistic Interaction and the Relationship between Christian and Islamic Art . . . . .	415
9.2.3 Monastic Context versus Parish Context . . . . .	420
9.3 Identity in Word and Image: Future Avenues of Research . . . . .	424
Figures and Plates . . . . .	431
Abbreviations . . . . .	513
Bibliography. . . . .	515
List of Figures and Plates . . . . .	549
Appendices . . . . .	553
Appendix A Description of Deir Mar Behnam . . . . .	553
Appendix B Twelfth- and Thirteenth-Century Inscriptions at Deir Mar Behnam . . . . .	563
Select Index . . . . .	571